Reason Rationing Is Necessary in U. S.

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—Lifting the veil on the part lend-lease has played in American food shortages, Administrator E. B. Stettinius, Jr., revealed yesterday that in 1942, lend-lease took 10 per cent of the nation's eggs, 23.1 per cent of its cheese, 9.8 per cent of its pork, and 13.2 per cent of its edible fats and oils.

Stettinius, in a special report to Congress, said these figures did not include food shipped to American forces aboard and commended:

"The lend-lease food program for 1943 will take a much bigger share of many of these products than it did in 1942."

Commission Trims Insurance Funds
Little Rock, Jan. 26 —(AP)—The legislature's Joint Budget committee today trimmed insurance department's appropriation request $2,000 and approved the Park Commission's $16,400 request which was the same as for 1941-42.

The committee cut $1,000 from the insurance department's $5,000 request for travel expense, and $1,000 from the $5,000 request for special services in connection with the Workmen's Compensation Act. The total appropriation of $33,650, however, provided for salary raises for four employees. The 1941-43 appropriation was $35,250.

The Park commission's request included salary hikes for eight employees.

In the Workmen's Compensation division, where a staff of 16 employees was sought, the committee allowed ten at $15,000 a year each. It also eliminated a $2,000 a year claim examiner, denied a $300 salary increase for a statistician, and $1800 travel expense increase and eliminated a $2,000 reporting service. The budget was fixed at $12,000, an increase of $5,000 over 1941 but $7,000 under the request.

The Racing Commission was allowed a $15,800 budget the same as it received two years ago.

Proposes Conversion of State College
Little Rock, Jan. 26 —(AP)—One of Arkansas' six state supported colleges would be converted to an all-male "MacArthur Military College" under a bill introduced today by Senator John H. Moore, Helena.

The bill would direct the boards of Henderson State Teachers, Arkadelphia; Arkansas State Teachers, Conway; Arkansas State, Jonesboro; Arkansas Tech, Russellville; Monticello A. & M. and Magnolia A. & M. to decide whether they wished such designation. If two or more wanted it, final decision would be left to the legislature.

Science Making Plastic Ball for American Golfer

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
New York, Jan. 26 —(AP)— Science is preparing a plastic ball for the rubber-starved golfer.

The newly developed pellet already has been put through exhaustive laboratory and field tests and has proven itself 90 per cent as efficient as the present rubber, core-wound ball.

And there's nothing in the rule book which prohibits the new ball's use except the law of supply. It probably won't be manufactured for general distribution until after the war.

Joseph Dey, executive secretary of the United States Golf Association, said today that a ball was legal on the golf course as long as it didn't exceed 1.62 ounces in weight, 1.68 inches in diameter and didn't travel faster than 250 feet a second when tested on the USGA machine.

Nowhere in the rule book is the ball's composition outlined or defined. After all, the early golf balls were made of packed feathers.

Possibilities of the new pellet discovered when a chemist made up some of the plastic and molded it into balls "just for the fun of it."

Some of them were sent to golf professionals, including Horton Smith. The pros posted their usual low scores but commented on the explosive noise made when the ball was struck and the "zing" felt in the hands when an off-line shot was hit. The two complaints virtually have been eliminated in the newer models.

Manufacturers feel that if the plastic ball proves popular it can be sold for as little as 15 cents.

UNSOLVED MYSTERY CHAPTER XX
"It seems that we face a very clear situation," Lieutenant Thatcher said.

"Quite clear," Captain Meehan answered.

Cynthia looked at them, at Mitchell Grace and Henry Prentiss. "Please explain it to me," she asked.

Lieutenant Thatcher looked at Captain Meehan again, and nodded slightly, and Captain Meehan, staring at the steeple made by his joined fingertips, spoke quietly:

"The facts are simple. We are dealing with a man who appeared, literally, from nowhere, pretending to be someone else altogether. Such an assumption could be altered only by a message from your friend Mr. Stewart, saying that this Vaughan Dunbar really was his friend, and really bore a letter of introduction to you. Under the circumstances, I do not expect such a message."

"He used great shrewdness to work his way into your house. He committed his crime in the most ostentatious way possible—in full view of dozens of people. What does that tell us? Simply that he intends to vanish into the nowhere from which he emerged. Actually, he told us that much in the note he left behind."

"He knows that we shall never find a hint of the past from which he came—or at least he thinks he knows that. And he is equally confident that we shall not find the way into his future."

"And what does that mean to us, who pursue him? Just this: We know nothing of his trail before he came into your lives. And that trail has broken off now, as abruptly as it started. It breaks off at the automobile he abandoned, after managing with such cleverness to get it clear of the immediate vicinity of this house."

"Where does it lead from there? Perhaps to another automobile, which he had planted in that self-same parking lot. Or to any of several bus lines leading away from the place. Or to half a dozen railroad stations on two different lines, all within easy walking distance: Garden City itself, Country

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

New York, Jan. 26 —(AP)— The three New York baseball clubs, which can quarrel furiously over nothing at times, agree that they won't let any of their players train by themselves in warmer climates after the northern camps open.

"You know a ball player's idea of training," snorts Secretary Eddie Brannick of the Giants. "They work out a few minutes then go play a round of golf."

"We're going to urge them all to do some road work before they report," adds Ed Barrow of the Yanks. "We always do."

The Dodgers' Grancher says he'd like to get five or six players together for preliminary work before March 1 so he could be sure how their conditioning is coming along.

Contrary Opinions
Babe Ruth's idea that northern training will "ruin" players and that the pitchers will only be good for a few innings at the start brought a series of snorts along the baseball beat.

"What did he ever know about training?" was the general reaction. "And you gotta admit the Babe never took a spring workout too seriously."

For one, Huggins, the "sting" work, one of the fastest teams, never go south and begin playing early in March without any casualties. Their pitchers work only three-inning stretches then but they show mid-season stuff.

Today's Guest Star
Willard Jennings, Richmond (Va.) News Leader: "Has anyone thought of holding the Kentucky Derby and the Bunion Derby at the same time at Louisville this year? It seems quite appropriate in view of the ban on pleasure driving and since Churchill Downs is some three miles from Louisville."

Gentleman Joe
Although Joe Choyensky, who died Sunday, weighed only 170 pounds in his fighting days, he took on such big guys as Jim Corbett, 220-pound Jim Jeffries, Sailor Tom Sharkey, and Jack Johnson and did all right.

And he claimed that in five fights with Corbett (including one with bare fists on a sand lot) he only was licked once. In his book on Gentleman Joe, ring historian Naaf Fleisher quotes Billy Delancy, trainer of Corbett and Jeffries, as saying the Choyensky-Corbett battle on a barge at Benicia, Calif., was the greatest fight he ever had seen. "For cleverness, endurance and gameness displayed, no one else could have done it."

"D. W."
Iowa State College students of judo call it merely, "D. W."—short for "Dirty Wrestling"—and you'd think that would have warned Coach Hugo Ottopalik against the mistake he made in white ago.

Otopalik, the college publicity department reports, barely beat the class to the door as they started after him.

Hogs to Start Sports in Own Back Yard

Fayetteville, Jan. 26 —(AP)—University of Arkansas starting a season for athletes in its own back yard.

Dr. Eugene Lambert, director of athletics, said today he will inaugurate a daily class of sports activities to develop new material for varsity football, basketball and track.

"Members of the Athletic department have observed that there are good high school, and some times junior college, athletes enrolled in the university who do not participate in varsity or intramural sports," Dr. Lambert said.

"We want this type of athlete especially, and also the student who might not have been good enough to make the team in high school or junior college but has grown and developed since."

Several well known varsity athletes developed after failing for at least once season to make varsity squads, Lambert said.

Wear Schoonover, all-American end, did not go out for Razorback football in his freshman of sophomore years. Jesse Wilson, present-day Forker basketball star, was picked up his junior year from an intramural quiet.

House Group

Jeffers holds a responsible position; he is a great railroad executive, and I think we should look into this matter."

Vinson will appoint a sub-committee to conduct the inquiry later. At the suggestion of Rep. Maas (R-Minn.), members of the appropriations committee will be invited to attend the hearings.

The conflict between rubber and military demands appeared headed for a decision by President Roosevelt.

By STERLING F. GREEN
Washington, Jan. 26 —(AP)— It was up to President Roosevelt today to call the winner in the sharp skirmishing between Rubber Director William M. Jeffers and the armed services on whether Jeffers should get the over-riding priority go-ahead he demands for his synthetic rubber program.

The question is known to have been in the hands of James F. Byrnes, director of economic stabilization, for about two weeks, but informed sources said intense military pressure had been applied and the final decision would have to come from Mr. Roosevelt himself.

These official sources, who cannot be quoted, said Army and Navy heads had furnished a joint memorandum to Byrnes setting forth their claims. Briefly, these are that the special priority directive sought by Jeffers would interfere with three other "must" programs: aviation gasoline, chemical warfare plants, and Naval escort vessels.

The intensity of the conflict was brought into the open yesterday by Jeffers' denunciation of what he called Army and Navy "interference" with war production. The country will get production, he told a session of the council of state governments in Baltimore, "if we keep the Army and Navy and loafers out of these plants."

There are too many experts in these plants, Army and Navy men, Jeffers said. "One day it's the Navy and the next it's the Army. It's a battle between how many stars and how many bars."

This blunt talk got a round of applause in Baltimore but drew a reprimand from the Office of War Information.

formation in Washington, which is supposed to clear and approve all speeches by public officials to head off inter-agency strife.

"The OWI did not clear the speech made by Rubber Director Jeffers," said OWI, "nor did OWI have any advance knowledge that he was to deliver such a speech."

Commenting on this, Jeffers said he spoke at a "question and answer affair" and therefore he "shouldn't think" his remarks would have to be submitted to OWI in advance. His criticism was not of the Army and Navy, he said, but of the "expedients from the Army and Navy."

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Washington, Jan. 26 — Mounting intensity of a priorities battle between the armed forces and rubber director William M. Jeffers over first claim on materials needed for vital important programs of both brought a hurry call today for President Roosevelt's intervention.

The priorities problem, urgent as it is, nevertheless took second place in capital interest when it to be made known that an important announcement is expected to be made public at 9 o'clock central war time tonight. No indication of its nature can be given presently.

Notice of the impending announcement came as Congress kept an eye on the priorities duel while studying such other pressing problems as boosting the national debt limit to $210,000,000, obtaining increased revenues for the war, and the manpower situation.

As a Senate agriculture subcommittee summoned War Production Chairman Donald M. Nelson to ask what he intends to do about the priorities controversy involving the synthetic rubber program, official sources said a final decision on the Jeffers - armed services duel will have to come from the president.

These sources, which cannot be quoted, said Army and Navy heads informed James F. Byrnes, director of economic stabilization, that Jeffers' claims on materials for his synthetic rubber program would interfere with their three "must" programs — aviation gasoline, chemical warfare plants and naval escort vessels.

Meantime, the task of raising new revenue to help counterbalance a national debt heading toward the $210,000,000 mark confronted the House Ways and Means committee.

Legislation to boost the debt limit from $125,000,000 to the higher figure will claim first attention of the committee at the opening meeting Thursday.

The Ruml pay as - you - go tax plan or a modified version also was scheduled for early consideration. Committee members expected to meet Friday.

U. S. Airpower Played Major Role in British Victory

Bombay, Jan. 24 —(Delayed)— British War Secretary Sir James Grigg has conferred a grand decoration on gallant peoples in his statement that "the destruction of the Italian empire was overwhelmingly our show, ours and that of the inhabitants of British East Africa and British West Africa."

In assaying this tribute one's mind instinctively turns to the civilian population of Britain. No Army has done more for the Allied cause than these brave folk whose stout spirit enabled England to hold out against the most frightful air assault the world has known and thus prevent a quick Hitlerian triumph. They've waited long for their reward in smashing victory and now it has come. That will mean much for morale in the trying days still ahead.

Through an association of ideas and perhaps partly because I'm a long way from America and a bit homesome, my mind turns to my own people who also "are" doing their bit in this war, although far removed from actual battlefields. For them I want to write a little footnote to Sir James' broadcast Saturday.

Just for home consumption and not to beat the drum, it won't do any harm to amplify his statement that "of course we had ungrudging help from American supplies and from American air forces in the latest stage, but nevertheless it has been overwhelmingly our show." Maybe Sir James himself added to this and it wasn't cabled out for publication. Anyway, I'm going to say my two cents' worth because I think you would be glad to know that the Yankee members of this Allied football team in Africa has carried the ball more than once.

I was with the British Eighth Army in Libya after General Sir Bernard Montgomery's sensational rout of the Axis forces from El Alamein and before he began his great drive at El gheila. I had full opportunity to check all the operations, including those of the American Air Forces.

Thus I can assure you that, our air contingent, and especially our heavy bombers, played a major role in this victory.

I will go further and say the Eighth Army's success certainly couldn't have been achieved in such a fast and overwhelming fashion without our air support.

At some of the most crucial moments of this campaign our heavy long distance bombers were the only ones which could reach General Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's rear bases and supply lines. Day after day Uncle Sam's big bombers blasted the Axis communica-

NEW YORK STOCKS
New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—A wide assortment of stock market varieties in the industrial category today continued to register new tops for more than a year in the liveliest dealings of 1943 but profit taking on the drive restrained many leaders.

The pace was fast from the start, with large blocks of low-price shifters, most of which got nowhere in particular, helping put volume for the full proceedings at around 1,000,000 shares.

While members of the "penny" group were conspicuous on the ticker tape, prime-rated issues still exhibited the real strength although a number of these eventually lost ground. Advances of fractions to a point or so were plentiful near the close but declines of as much were well distributed. Rails generally were in the lagging class.

ations. Who do you think it was that rendered Rommel's principal port of Tripoli impotent at a time when it was most essential to prevent him from receiving troops and supplies? Well, it was our heavy bombers.

This battle has been largely one of communications and Montgomery has stripped his enemy with masterful skill. In order to do this he had to depend on the British and American air forces.

To say we took a major hand in the vital long distance bombing doesn't detract in the least from the splendid and indispensable way of the Royal Air Force in other categories or from the brilliance of Montgomery's strategy and tactics. He has written his name firmly across the page of Britain's famous soldiers.

The full significance of Montgomery's victory will become apparent only when the last of the Axis forces have been driven into the sea from Africa. Then we shall see the reopening of those all important Mediterranean shipping lanes to the Middle East and India and China.

Not only will this hasten Hitler's inglorious end, but it will create a mighty avenue of strength to be directed against the Japanese. There's no operation within the realm of feasibility which could have contributed more to the shortening of the war than the North African show.

Spurred Tax, Liquor Debates Squared Today
Little Rock, Jan. 26 —(AP)—Prospects for spirited and prolonged debates were spurred today by a group of new proposals in the House legislative mill.

This session's first tax reduction measure, the much talked of bill to withhold liquor taxes from dry counties, and another departmental plan were all introduced yesterday.

With a provision that no state property tax could be levied except by referendum, a bill by Rep. Eli Leflar of Benton county would abolish the present nine - mill property tax. The bill would be referred to the 1944 general election.

Rep. W. C. Tibbels of sharp introduced a bill to deny dry counties a share in liquor tax money. A similar amendment was attached to an Izard county prohibition bill last week by a 40-37 vote.

Other bills now in the hopper include Rep. Lee Baker's (Chicot) 90-day divorce law repealer, Rep. R. L. Wright's (Clark) plan to require physical examinations and five days notice to get a marriage license, and a bill to give the state the odd cents from parimutuel bets on horse and dog races.

Other developments:

Senate: Sen. Roy Millum introduced a bill to consolidate in the revenue department all enforcement of motor vehicle traffic, loading and licensing laws. Sen. J. Albert Middleton, Mena auto dealer, successfully led a fight against a plan for quantity purchases of school buses at a claimed saving of $400 to $600 each.

House:

Temperance Committee—A public hearing will be held at 7 p. m. Wednesday on the Liquor Prohibition bill.

House Revenue and Taxation Committee—A public hearing was set for 7 p. m. Wednesday on the Strickland bill to repeal act 129 of 1941 and return bank taxation to the basis of ad valorem assessment rather than income tax on dividends.

Capital Has Plenty Post War Planners
Washington, Jan. 25 (AP)—There are more "powwars" than armchair strategists around Washington these days.

"Powwars" is a newly coined word applying to post-war planners. They are both in and out of the government and their problem is: How to make a better America fit into a better world after the war.

A survey disclosed today more than 100 specialists are engaged in such studies in a score of government agencies. Their researches into how to cushion the after-effects of war and to make future wars less likely are proceeding simultaneously with plans on how to end the current conflict.

No waiting this time. America is preparing for the peace perhaps as thoroughly or more so than she did for the war. When this mess is over the president and congress are going to have before them more blueprints and formulas for charting the future than could be read by one person in six months.

While numerous headaches are in store immediately after the war is over, many government officials agree with private experts that a post war depression can be avoided.

"If appropriate action is taken there is no necessity for a post-war collapse," says the national resources planning board in one of its voluminous reports. The board not only makes independent studies of domestic post-war questions, but also correlates those of other federal agencies.

Secretary Wickard says the agriculture department does not share the pessimism that a severe economic situation is inevitable after the war.

"We believe," he says, "The country need never go through a major economic depression again. We visualize a post-war world in which we will make full use of our manpower and our resources for the benefit of the American people."

A similarly optimistic view was expressed by Vice President Wallace Sunday in an interview in which he envisioned post-war America as one "where all can become members of the middle class—where all can share in the benefits which that class has enjoyed in the past."

Wallace said, "We can have full employment in this country without destroying private initiative, private enterprise."

The resources planning board proposes that the 40 hour week be made permanent along with a 50 week work year without sacrifice of high wage standards.

A program of Federal Works Projects is being mapped with the Budget Bureau. The Labor Department is analyzing the magnitude of manpower demobilization, the number likely to be seeking new jobs within two years after the war ends, and with the Selective Service System is preparing a revised occupational code to facilitate demobilization into occupations for which the men are best fitted.

The Federal Security Agency has a program planning committee looking into problems of social security, youth, health, education, nutrition and education, while the Federal Works Agency is formulating long-range public works and highway development programs.

MacNider Decorated by Gen. MacArthur
Allied Headquarters in Australia, Jan. 26 —(AP)—General Douglas MacArthur awarded an Oak Leaf Cluster in lieu of the Distinguished Service Cross today to Brig. Gen. Hanford MacNider to Mason City, Ia., for "extraordinary heroism in action near Cape Endiade, New Guinea, Nov. 23."

His citation said that while within a few yards of the front line observing the disposition of infantry units for an impending attack, Gen. MacNider saw some men withdrawing from an advanced position. While rallying this group he received numerous wounds from fragments when an enemy grenade exploded.

The Distinguished Service Cross was awarded him in the first world war, when he was a captain, for extraordinary heroism in action at St. Mihiel, France, while serving with the ninth United States Infantry.

Indian Naval Boat Sinks Jap Troop Carrier
New Delhi, Jan. 26 —(AP)—A Royal Indian Navy boat patrolling the Mayu river area in Burma rammed and sank a Japanese coastal craft filled with troops, a British communiqué said today.

The incident occurred Sunday night, it was reported. The Indian vessel was rammed first by the heavily armed Japanese troop-laden Japanese ship but opened fire, drew back and then rammed the Japanese craft, sinking her, the British said.

Japanese casualties were numbered at least 50. Two officers on the Indian boat were wounded. The Mayu river flows into the Bay north of Akyab, on the west Burma coast.

RAF hurricanes roared in low over a Japanese motor transport column yesterday, along the Taunggyi-Pading road in southwestern Burma, the British reported, destroying at least 10 Army trucks and a staff car, damaging many others, and killing a considerable number of Japanese soldiers.

Shwebo airdrome, held by the Japanese in central Burma, was raided by fighter-bombers during the day and last night long range bombers returned to the attack, laying their missiles well inside the target area, it was announced.

Other bombers went after Japanese shipping found along the Arakan coast, the northeast shore of the Bay of Bengal.

Betty Hansen's Private Life Probed in Trial
Los Angeles, Jan. 26 —(AP)—Actress Errol Flynn's defense probed searchingly today into the private life of slim Betty Hansen, one of two teen-age girls who accuse the handsome film star on morals charges.

A soldier, Private Marlin E. Ross, stationed at Camp Cooke, Calif., testified on direct examination that he had known Betty well before and after the time last September when she contends Flynn indulged in acts of intimacy with her at a Bel Air dinner party.

He was a bellboy at a Hollywood hotel at the time, Ross testified, asserting that while Betty was a registered guest there only one day, she had stayed overnight there frequently, sometimes as often as three or four times a week.

Ross said she visited frequently at the room of one Bunny Baker, about 25, not otherwise identified.

Ross, under direct examination by Defense Attorney Jerry Giesler, said that a few days after the party at which she claims Flynn seduced her, Miss Hansen had told him specifically that she had been intimate with no one at the party.

With the investment board to pursue any direct obligation bonds of the state that might be threatened with default because sufficient revenues had not been collected at the time they fell due.

The committee also introduced a regular appropriation bill allowing the state to invest in government bonds during the next two years up to $6,500,000 from the debt service cushion fund.

Despite a plea by Senator W. L. Ward, Marianna, to "forget hatred," the Senate refused today to reverse its stand against financing Senator Julian James' trip to the convention of the council of state governments at Baltimore, Md.

Your Federal Income Tax
Clip Out This Article—The Complete File Will Tell You How Much Tax You Owe March 15.

No. 20
INTEREST INCOME
Interest income is entered in the return Form 1040 as items 3 to 5. Interest is variously taxable, some interest being wholly tax exempt and some partly tax exempt. Wholly tax-exempt interest includes interest on (a) obligations of a State, Territory, or political subdivision thereof, or of the District of Columbia, or United States possessions; (b) obligations issued prior to March 1, 1941, under the Federal Farm Loan Act, or amendments to the Act; (c) obligations of the United States issued on or before September 1, 1917; and (d) Treasury notes, Treasury bills, and Treasury certificates of indebtedness issued prior to March 1, 1941. Although such interest is tax exempt, the amount of such obligations held by the taxpayer, as well as the amount of interest received or accrued during the year, must be shown in the return (in Schedule A).

Certain other interest is partially tax exempt. Interest on United States Savings bonds and Treasury bonds issued prior to March 1, 1941, is of this class. Interest on such bonds is exempt from normal tax, and on holdings of such bonds up to $5,000 principal amount is exempt from surtax also; that is, interest on such bonds held in excess of $5,000 principal amount must be included in surtax net income for computation of surtax.

Interest on obligations issued on or after March 1, 1941, by the United States or any agency or instrumentality of the United States, is subject to both normal tax and surtax. However, in the case of obligations issued at a discount, for example, war savings bonds, where income is reported on the cash basis, the interest may be reported each year as accrued (shown in a table on the bonds as the increase in the redemption value) or it may be deferred until the bonds come due, when it may all be included as income in that year. (Once a taxpayer has elected to accrue the discount, he can not change to the other method.)

On certain bonds with a "tax free covenant" the corporation issuing the bonds pays part of the income tax on such bond interest (2 per cent of the total interest earned by the bond). A person receiving interest on such bonds is entitled to a credit of the amount of income tax paid by the corporation in computing his tax due. The amount of such credit for tax paid at the source is entered in item 31 of the return Form 1040.

Interest on coupon bonds is considered received when the coupon becomes due and payable, irrespective of when the taxpayer cashes or presents the coupon for payment (unless, of course, the issuer of the bonds is in default and no funds are available to meet the interest). Interest on savings and deposit accounts is considered as received when it has been credited to the account of the taxpayer, subject to his withdrawal, irrespective of whether he withdraws it or not. Other interest is considered as received when paid or made available to the holder of the obligation.

Sometimes, notes are sold at a discount and redeemed at the face amount. While such discount is frequently considered interest in the commercial sense, for tax purposes it represents a gain from sale or exchange of property and is not reported as interest, but as a gain under item 8.

Arkansas State at Jonesboro reported not more than 12 or 15 of its students would be affected.
